

Roy Hobbs Eligibility Guidelines

Here are Roy Hobbs Baseball's eligibility rules for the Roy Hobbs World Series (reviewed & updated September, 2009):

❖ ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Players

Players are eligible to compete at the RHWS, provided they:

- ◆ Satisfy the age and professional player eligibility requirements explained below.

- ◆ Complete the registration process and execute a player "Registration Contract & Waiver" as required, signed by the team's manager/coach, which affirms that both the player and the player's manager/coach will be bound by the rules, regulations and governance of Roy Hobbs Baseball.

- ◆ Complete in-person check-in, including presentation of appropriate government-issued photo identification before participating in any games.

- ◆ Have his/her RHWS I.D. card received at check-in registration in his/her possession at all games. Players without their cards are ineligible to participate.

- ◆ Have not violated any RHWS rules or been engaged in unsportsmanlike or inappropriate behavior in a prior RHWS.

Managers

All managers must sign a statement provided by Roy Hobbs Baseball at team check-in, stating that

(i) they are not aware of any intentional, unintentional or inadvertent violations of the RHWS rules by any player on the team or themselves,

(ii) they are not aware that there are any ineligible players on their roster, and

(iii) they will abide by all eligibility rules, interpretations or disciplinary decisions rendered by Roy Hobbs Baseball during the RHWS. Managers are subject to the same penalties as ineligible or disqualified players.

❖ AGE

Age Divisions

- ◆ Open Division: Players must be 28 years of age by Dec. 31, 2009. (Teams allowed 3 players 25-27, but those players must be 25 years of age by Nov. 1, 2009.)

- ◆ Veterans Division: Players must be 38 years of age by Dec. 31, 2009. (Teams allowed 3 players 35-37, but those players must be 35 years of age by Nov. 1, 2009.)

- ◆ Masters Division: Players must be 48 by Dec. 31, 2009. (Teams allowed 3 players 45-47, but those players must be 45 years of age before the first day of division play.)

- ◆ Legends Division: Players must be 55 by Dec. 31, 2009. (Teams allowed 3 players 53-54, but those players must be 53 years of age before the first day of division play.)

- ◆ Classics Division: Players must be 60 by Dec. 31, 2009. (Teams allowed 3 players 58-59, but those players must be 58 years of age before the first day of division play.)

◆ Vintage Division: (former Seniors Division) Players must be 65 by Dec. 31, 2009. (Teams allowed 3 players 63-64, but those players must be 63 years of age before the first day of division play.) Players younger than 63 who participated in Seniors Division in 2008 under previous age exemption rules will be grand-fathered and included in the under-age total.

◆ Timeless Division: Players must be 70 by Dec. 31, 2009. (Teams allowed an option on under-age players: a) 3 players 67-69, but those players must be 67 years of age before the first day of division play; OR b) 4 players 68-69, but those players must be 68 years of age before the first day of division play.)

◆ Family Affairs Division: See Family Affairs playing guidelines.

◆ Women: Open age group in women's division; Women are welcome in the men's competition with age minimums of 25 in the Open Division, 35 in the Veterans, 40 in Masters, 45 in Legends, 50 in Classics, 55 in Vintage.

Underage player restrictions

Open Division: There are no restrictions on the positions that underage Open players may play in the first 4 games of pool play. However, underage players are eligible to pitch only on teams participating in the Open AAAA Division playoffs.

Veterans & Masters Divisions: Teams registering for the AAAA level of play may have one underage pitcher, who, in accordance with the age guidelines of his respective division, may pitch in any AAAA game. Underage pitcher may not pitch in AAA playoffs if his team does not advance to AAAA playoffs.

All other divisions: Underage players in the Legends, Classics, Vintage and Timeless divisions may not pitch under any circumstances.

Age Verification

Every player is required to produce an acceptable government-issued photo identification card (e.g., driver's license), which includes his/her birth date upon check-in at the RHWS in order to be declared eligible.

Each player and his/her manager/coach are responsible for verifying and attesting to player age eligibility as set forth above. As a part of that process, each player must submit a Roy Hobbs' "Registration Contract & Waiver" no later than check-in of the Roy Hobbs World Series (at least once every 3 consecutive years). The contract & waiver must be signed by each player and their respective manager/coach, and requires, among other things, that each player and his manager disclose and attest to the player's age eligibility.

Age Challenges

Any age or identity challenges during games will be handled by a request for a player's World Series ID card. If a player does not have it, he cannot participate until he gets it. No 'out' penalty on his team; substitute may be inserted in lineup. If no substitute available, use one-time courtesy runner on bases if player on base or close up lineup. If player gets his card, he may be re-inserted into his position.

If a manager desires to challenge the age or identity of any player in the RHWS, whether that manager's team has played or will play against the team of the challenged player, the manager, and only the manager, may contact the Roy Hobbs Baseball President or the RHWS Tournament Director ("Roy Hobbs Officials") before 5 p.m. E.S.T. on the Thursday of the week in which the team is competing, and state the basis for such challenge.

❖ EX-PROFESSIONAL PLAYERS

"Ex-professional players" eligible to play in the RHWS are defined as players who, in the discretion of the Roy Hobbs Officials, have been paid to play in organized baseball leagues (other than incidental travel-related expenses) regardless of amount, frequency, country, the level or status of team or league, and have been out of paid baseball continuously since January 1 of the calendar year in which the player desires to participate in the RHWS. For example, a player retired from paid-to-play baseball in the spring of 2009, would not be eligible for RHWS until the 2010 event.

“Ex-professional players” must be prepared to provide proof of their release date, and failure to do so may result in the player being declared ineligible.

- ◆ A RHWS team roster may not be more than 50 percent “ex-professional players”.

- ◆ A RHWS team roster is limited to 3 “ex-professional players” who have been out of pay-to-play baseball less than 5 continuous years as of the date the RHWS week begins for the Division in which they are playing.

- ◆ All “ex-professional players” must register as such with Roy Hobbs Baseball by completing an applicable professional player eligibility statement at the time of check-in. Failure to do so may lead to loss of eligibility, disqualification and other actions described below.

- ◆ Active or former professional coaches/managers are eligible to participate as players, coaches or managers, so long as they meet these “ex-professional player” eligibility requirements.

❖ ROSTER REQUIREMENTS

Rosters

RHWS team fees cover 20 players, managers and coaches. The roster may be expanded to a maximum of 25 eligible players, but additional players after 20 result in the additional charges set forth in the RHWS fee schedule. One (1) manager and one (1) coach may be included beyond the maximum of 25; however, Roy Hobbs Baseball will provide only 25 individual awards to teams in the championship round. Batboys, scorekeepers or other non-uniformed personnel are not eligible for individual awards in the championship round (teams wishing to include any such personnel may opt to purchase any of the individual awards). Any roster after team check-in at Fort Myers must be reviewed and approved by the Roy Hobbs President.

Cross-Over Players

Players may not play on more than one team within any age division. Players may participate in multiple age divisions within the same week, i.e., Legends and Classics, Masters and Vintage, Classics & Timeless, etc. However, Roy Hobbs makes no guarantees as to avoiding schedule conflicts between such teams.

Players rostered on multiple teams must declare at check-in which is their primary team once playoffs begin, in case of game conflicts. Players may change that decision as late as Wednesday, but must do so in writing, including the signatures of both managers, to the Tournament Director.

Geographic Integrity

Regardless of roster size, teams in all divisions are limited to 6 players who are not from that team’s principle drawing area, i.e., the team’s league, city, county or metropolitan area. A “metropolitan area” is the geographic area, which may contain multiple cities and counties, from which players who play in the same amateur senior baseball league are generally drawn. Metropolitan areas are subject to approval by Roy Hobbs Officials.

Teams are required to submit a Geographic Waiver form, identifying the team’s principle drawing area and listing all players from outside that area, prior to the RHWS. Roy Hobbs Officials must approve these players and may, in their discretion, approve additional players who are not from the team’s principle drawing area.

A Geographic Waiver form is required, in the discretion of Roy Hobbs Officials, for (i) players who have been approved to play on the team in prior RHWS, or (ii) players placed on a roster by or with the approval of Roy Hobbs Baseball.

❖ PLAYOFF ELIGIBILITY

To compete in the RHWS playoffs ...

◆ A position player must participate (hit and play defense) in at least one the first 4 games. If a position player arrives later than Tuesday, or the team's fourth RHWS game, that player must play all of game 5 offensively and defensively. If a non-playoff game 5 is NOT played for any reason, the player must play all of the first playoff game offensively and defensively in order to participate in any further RHWS playoff games. AAAA-qualified teams are limited to 2 such players for the playoffs.

◆ To be eligible to pitch (as a starter or in a save situation), a player must appear as a pitcher and throw at least 2 full innings within the first 4 RHWS games (2 full innings is defined as 6 outs, or at least 15 complete hitters). If the player arrives later than Tuesday or the fourth RHWS pool game (or has not pitched in first 4 games), to be eligible as a pitcher, the player must pitch at least 5 complete innings (15 outs or at least 25 complete hitters) in RHWS pool game #5. If a non-playoff game 5 is NOT played for any reason, the player, in order to be eligible to compete in additional playoff games as a pitcher, must start and pitch the first 5 complete innings (15 outs or at least 25 complete hitters) of that first RHWS playoff game, regardless of the number of runs given up. Pitchers on AAAA-qualified teams must be playoff qualified from pool play; no exceptions.

Multiple division playoff eligibility

Crossover Playoff Eligibility: In scheduling where multiple divisions are competing during the same week of the RHWS, the following will govern playoff eligibility for players competing in multiple divisions:

◆ A player rostered on teams in more than one division during the same week of play must participate (hit and play defense) in at least one of the first 4 RHWS games on each of his teams to be eligible for those respective teams in the playoffs. (Example: A player primarily playing for a team in Legends must participate in at least one Classics game to be eligible for the playoffs for his Classics team.)

◆ Such a player (i.e. a player who has met the participation requirement) is eligible to pitch in the playoffs for his team in any division if he has appeared as a pitcher and thrown at least 3 full innings (9 outs or 15 complete hitters) within the first 4 RHWS games for any combination of his teams. (Examples: A pitcher who throws 3 innings in Legends is eligible to pitch in the playoffs for his Classics team as well as for his Legends team. A pitcher who throws 2 innings in Legends and 1 inning in Classics is also eligible to pitch in the playoffs for both teams.)

◆ Managers have the right – and the obligation – to know which players are on multiple rosters and which team said players consider to be their #1 priority in case of playoff conflicts. Managers have the right to request commitments, but may not demand commitments.

◆ Players are required to state their priority upon check-in, and it will be so noted in the Check-In book, which will be the ultimate arbiter in case of disputes. Players should review their status with managers on Sunday and may change their designation no later than Monday, but must do so in person with tournament officials, and the date of the switch will be initialed and noted in the book.

◆ Bottom line: It's an honor system and a two-way street for players, managers and teams alike.

❖ RHWS DEPARTURES

◆ If a player leaves the World Series for any reason and skips any games or part of a game, the player must surrender his player ID card to RHWS officials before departure and check in with RHWS officials before participating in any RHWS games upon his return (his RHWS ID card will be re-issued upon his return).

◆ Should such a player not return until after pool play is completed, he will be required to return and compete in his division's quarterfinal playoffs and to have met playoff eligibility conditions prior to his departure. Additionally, to be eligible to continue to pitch, said returning player must pitch at least 5 complete innings (15 outs or at least 25 complete hitters) in his team's first game upon his return.

◆ No player may leave the World Series and return to compete after the quarterfinal round of the playoffs.

❖ DISQUALIFICATION, PENALTIES DISCRETION OF ROY HOBBS OFFICIALS

Player & Manager/Coach Agreement

By signing the “Registration Contract & Waiver”, (including the formal Check-In contract & waiver) both the player and that player’s manager/coach agree to abide by Roy Hobbs rules and determinations reached by Roy Hobbs Officials or, where applicable, the Roy Hobbs Advisory Board described below.

Ineligible Player

An “ineligible player” is a player who is in violation of these Roy Hobbs Baseball eligibility rules, regardless of whether the player or manager/coach violated the rules knowingly or otherwise.

Player Disqualification

If a player is determined by Roy Hobbs Baseball to be an ineligible player, has violated any RHWS rules, or has engaged in unsportsmanlike or inappropriate behavior, the player may be disqualified for all or some of the RHWS, at the sole discretion of Roy Hobbs Officials. The player will be subject to as much as a 5-year suspension from Roy Hobbs-sanctioned events. Roy Hobbs Officials may determine, in their sole discretion, that ineligible and disqualified players forfeit all rights to fees paid, awards or any benefits from participation.

Team Sanctions

If it is determined that a team has played a game or games using an ineligible or disqualified player, or otherwise violated RHWS rules, Roy Hobbs Officials may, upon review of the facts, take any action deemed appropriate in their sole discretion, including (i) declaring the team with the ineligible player to have forfeited all games in which an ineligible player participated, (ii) disqualifying the team from the RHWS, (iii) requiring some or all of a portion of a game to be replayed and/or (iv) declaring the team to have forfeited any fees paid, victories, awards or benefits from participation.

Rule Interpretations & Appeals to Roy Hobbs Advisory Board

Roy Hobbs Officials may interpret these rules in their sole discretion consistent with the best interests of the RHWS and take actions they deem appropriate to maintain the integrity of the rules and the fairness of the RHWS.

Any determination or interpretation of these rules by Roy Hobbs Officials may be appealed only to the Roy Hobbs Advisory Board convened at the event, the members of which will be announced prior to the beginning of the play for each Division.

A player and/or manager/coach who has been declared ineligible, disqualified and/or suspended, remains so, pending any hearing and until reinstatement by the Advisory Board. Decisions of the Advisory Board are final and may not be appealed to any other person, court or tribunal.
